Nereids Ball depicts 'Let's Rock 'n' Roll'

(Special to the Echo)

The era of the fabulous fifties—nothing before or since has equaled its power, might, magic and music. This set the stage for the 23rd Annual Ball Masque of the Krewe of Nereids with the theme 'Let's Rock 'n' Roll.'

The ball, staged at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum Saturday, January 14, was the time of Dungarees and Poodle Skirts, of Bobby Socks and Leather Jackets.

It was the era when drive-ins offered milk shakes and burgers, served by roller-skating carhops.

The sounds of the times came from Paul Anka, Theresa Brewer, Fabian, 'Lil Anthony and The Imperials, also 'The Platters, and Les Paul and Mary Ford. It was all part of the crazy 50's.

At the sound of the captain's whistle, the 1989 tableaux began to unfold as the magic filled the hearts with music, laughter and nostalgia from the Wonderful World of Rock 'n' Roll.

Presentation of the Royal Court of 1988 recalled the glitter, glamour and spectacle of the 'World of Show-Biz' in the music-filled ball presentation of 'Entertainment, U.S.A.'

Portraying those ever glamorous 'Rhythm and Blues Show Girls,' the krewe officers extended a 'Welcome to the Ball'

Tree-cutting marks start of new Stennis facility

BY D.C. HARVILL

In a symbolic action Wednesday, outgoing Stennis Space Center Director Jerry Hlass, using an old crosscut saw, felled a pine tree at the site of a new test facility to be constructed at the center.

The tree-cutting ceremony marks the beginning of construction on the $40 million Component Test Facility which is to be built on a 20-acre site adjacent to the access canal in the southern section of the center.

The old-timers here always like to say they were here when they cut the first tree...so we wanted Jerry to have the honor of cutting the first tree here at this site," said Jack Rogers, director of Center operations.

Actual construction on the facility will begin this summer.

Scianna wins

Rutherford, Mauffray run-off set Tuesday

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

A Bay St. Louis run-off election is scheduled Tuesday, Jan. 24, between James J. (Jimmy) Rutherford and Conrad L. Mauffray for councilman-at-large.

In the councilman for District One's race, Charles C. Scianna received 343 votes to challenger's Carol Ann Thomas' 135 votes.

Scianna, whose victory was certified Wednesday night by the election commission, will replace Lisa Coward on the council. She resigned upon being elected as Hancock County Supervisor of District Three.

Rutherford and Mauffray edged Peggy Lamb Dutton for the run-off spots after some 121 affidavit votes were checked by Eddie Favre, city clerk on Wednesday against county registration books. The results were validated by the Election Commissioners.

The qualifying votes were then counted by the Bay St. Louis Election Commissioners Wednesday evening.

The certified results Wednesday showed Rutherford receiving 417 votes; Mauffray 388; Dutton 364; Sherlyn Breland 192; and Truman A. Schultz Sr. 106 votes.

The winner in the run-off will fill the seat vacated by Wilmer Seymour who was elected as Hancock County Supervisor of District Four.

In the five person race for councilman-at-large, Tuesday night's returns gave Rutherford 387 votes; Mauffray 363; Dutton 337; Breland 177; and Schultz 93 votes.

Commissioner Charles Gottschalk Tuesday night said the recent changes in voter registration procedures, which make a voter eligible to vote in the city if registered in the county, contributed to the high number of affidavit votes.

Favre said the highest percentage of qualified electors voted in District One. Some 39.66% voted in the district involving a councilman's slot and the at-large position.

The lightest voting turnout was in District Three with only 19.35% of the qualified electors voting.

Overall there was a 29.41% turnout in the city as a whole for the special election.

With the polls closing at 7 p.m. Tuesday, the first box to arrive was from District Four at 7:20 p.m., followed by District Two at 7:25 p.m.; District One at 7:32 p.m.; and District Three at 7:37 p.m.

Several of the affidavit votes were not included in the tally Wednesday night for reasons such as not being a resident of Bay St. Louis, not registered long enough to qualify to vote, (a person must be registered at least 30 days before an election in the district), and having no registration at all on record.

County running out of court facilities

BY DENA BISNETTE

When the Hancock County Board of Supervisors had to relocate a meeting to the Youth Court building courtroom because he has difficulty using stairs and the courthouse, where court facilities are upstairs, has no elevator.

The board was asked to move because its meeting room was needed for a jury. While a move has not previously been necessary in recent memory, the board has often finished meetings with a bailiff standing at the door, waiting to let a jury into the room.

Court facilities are a growing problem, Board President Ronald Cuevas said.

Although the board has not addressed the problem as yet, Cuevas said, "There is no question that the problem will get worse. It's something we will have to look at this year."

"The solution is not going to be quick and easy because there are so many people involved with so many different needs."

Cuevas said he also knows why the difficulty in finding room for everyone is occurring, but so far the only public official who has brought it up is Chancery Clerk E. Michael Necaise, and even he has not done so in an official board meeting.

Other people have asked about it, particularly local attorneys who intermittently complain to the board about a lack of conference rooms where they can have discussions with their clients during breaks in court procedures.

Cuevas said the lack of room is a direct result of an increase in court business.

While the county has plans to alleviate a similar problem by constructing a million-dollar, multi-purpose building to house several agencies currently in inadequate, dilapidated or rented quarters, most notably the welfare department and the health department, the problem with court space may not be as easy to solve.

Court terms are now longer and more frequent, he explained.

One of the matters handled at Friday's meeting was a request from Justice Court Judge Lee Klein for a better way of scheduling Chancery Court around the regular Justice Court schedule.

Justice Court is typically conducted every Tuesday, with Youth Court using the building's courtroom on alternate Wednesdays and for emergency hearing. However, one of the chancellors also uses the Youth Court building courtroom because he has difficulty using stairs and the courthouse, where court facilities are upstairs, has no elevator.

Klein was concerned because Justice Court business is set up a month in advance and, if court has to be cancelled, his clerks must go to the time, expense and difficulty of notifying everyone involved.

He asked the board if Chancery Court could be rescheduled because he had been asked twice in a row to cancel his court because the chancellor needed his courtroom.

The board said they would look into the matter.

Chancery Court has two-week terms this year in beginning the third Monday in February, second Monday in June and fourth Monday in

ON PATROL

DIRT SCAM

The Bay St. Louis Police Department is seeking information regarding three people who took $300 from an elderly Cedar Point couple in a scam earlier this week.

Detective Don Osco said a white man and two white women traveling in a dump truck told the couple they had a load of dirt left over from a construction project in the area and were willing to sell it to them.

Before the couple could give them a decision, the three people dumped the dirt and spread it, Osco said. They then charged $300 for the load.

The only available description of the truck they used states that it is light brown with a high, sloping back.

The detective added that the three returned to the same home the next day and told the couple they were due a rebate on the cost of the dirt. This allowed them to gain access to the house, which they ransacked in an apparent search for valuables.

Other than the $300, nothing was known to have been taken, Osco said Wednesday.

He also said the couple was unharmed in the incident. The detective explained that people who run scams may return to the same neighborhood or one nearby.

Anyone who has information about the dump truck and its occupants, such as a better description of the people or a make or tag number of the truck, should call Osco or Detective Tom Burleson at 467-9221.

shuttle. One use of the system will be the deployment of large satellites.

While the ALS program has not yet received congressional approval, Hlass said the test facility is necessary for other programs and will be built even if the ALS does not get the go ahead.

After the ALS becomes operational, the test stands at SSC will continue in use, Hlass said, because shuttle flights will continue. 19 shuttle flights per year will be required during construction of a space station that NASA is currently working toward, he said.

Hlass leaves the director's position next week to assume a job in Washington D.C. as an assistant to the director of NASA.

Construction of the facility will create approximately 100 jobs, Hlass said. When finished an estimated 100 permanent workers will be needed.

Speaking at his last press conference as director of the center, Hlass said he is proud to have been a part of the NASA team at Stennis.

He has been the director of the space center for the last 12 years.

Scafidi charge dropped

An accessory to murder charge has been dropped against a Bay St. Louis service station operator following the acquittal of the man accused of the crime itself.

Assistant District Attorney DeWitt Allred said Tuesday that the accessory charge against David Scafidi of Pass Christian was being dropped.

Scafidi, 31, who operates a Chevron station on US-90, had been accused of assisting 42-year-old Melvin Joseph after the death of Joseph's estranged wife, Diana Joseph, on Dec. 22, 1987.

Joseph was found not guilty of first degree murder Friday after a five-day trial in which he stated he had taken his vehicle to the Chevron station after hitting his wife's car and and knocking it through an intersection into a telephone pole. The woman died shortly afterward during emergency surgery.

During testimony from Joseph's adopted daughter Wendy Joseph, the girl stated that Bay St. Louis authorities had told her that they suspected Scafidi of having cut the brake lines of the Toronado Joseph was driving when the wreck occurred.

However, a major contention of the defense was that the vehicle had a history of problems, including brake trouble.

Olivier ordained auxiliary bishop in Washington, D.C.

A former rector of St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis, Leonard James Olivier, SVD, has been ordained one of two auxiliary bishops for the Archdiocese of Washington, D.C.

During the ordination ceremony, which was celebrated at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C., recently, His Eminence James Cardinal Hickey, in an address to spectators, praised Olivier's work in the seminary as well as his service as vicar for black Catholics in the Diocese of Lafayette, La.

Olivier will now serve as an assistant to Hickey in Washington.

The 65-year-old bishop is a native of Lake Charles, La., who was ordained for the Divine Word Missionaries at St. Augustine on June 29, 1951, after receiving his secondary education there.

He was appointed an assistant priest there and in 1967 was named rector, a post in which he served until 1973.

From 1967 until 1971, he served as a part-time teacher at St. Stanislaus.

From 1974 until 1982, he served as rector in Epworth, Iowa, then in 1982 became pastor of St. Anthony's Parish in Louisiana, where he served until he was named part-time vicar in 1986.

Statement of Bishop-Elect Leonard Olivier, SVD

I thank God for calling me through our Holy Father Pope John Paul II, at the request of Archbishop Pio Laghi and Cardinal James Hickey, Archbishop of Washington, D.C. In fear and trembling I approach the task the Archbishop will assign me; I do so with unwavering trust and hope in the Lord who never fails me, as experience has taught me.

I pledge undying respect and loyalty to our Holy Father, Pope John Paul II, Cardinal Hickey, Archbishop Pio Laghi, the Prö-nuncio Apostolic and all the people of the Archdiocese.

With joy and hope I anticipate the warm reception and enthusiasm of the people of the Archdiocese of Washington for the service and collaboration I promise them in the years ahead. My specific assignment to my own Black brothers and sisters is a joyful continuation of my life and spirituality in the diocese of Lafayette, La. I anticipate the loving patience and support everyone will give me in the adjustment I must make in a changed situation and atmosphere and pace that is our Nation's Capital.

Archbishop Eugene Marino, SSJ, Archbishop of Atlanta, has made my role extremely easy and inviting by the unique spirit and vision he brought to his own collaborative service to this Archdiocese. I pray I'll be capable of and equal to continuing and giving further life to it.

I am deeply grateful and indebted to the Diocese of Lafayette under the undaunted leadership of bishops Gerard L. Frey and Harry J. Flynn and all their people. I owe an undying loyalty and gratitude to my own confreres, my Divine Word Missionary brothers and priests; they gave me birth and nourishment.

I am convinced I bring to my new assignment and life and the enrichment of the Archdiocese the undeniable love, support, and inspiration of my deceased parents and brother and that of my living brother and sisters.

I look forward to developing companionship and collaboration with Bishop-elect William G. Curlin whom I met briefly in Lafayette, La. My own Bishop Flynn, Coadjutor Bishop in Lafayette, spoke highly and warmly of him to me several times.

As additional thoughts crowd my mind, I think I would be remiss in failing to acknowledge three items that can easily be buried and lost in American Church History.

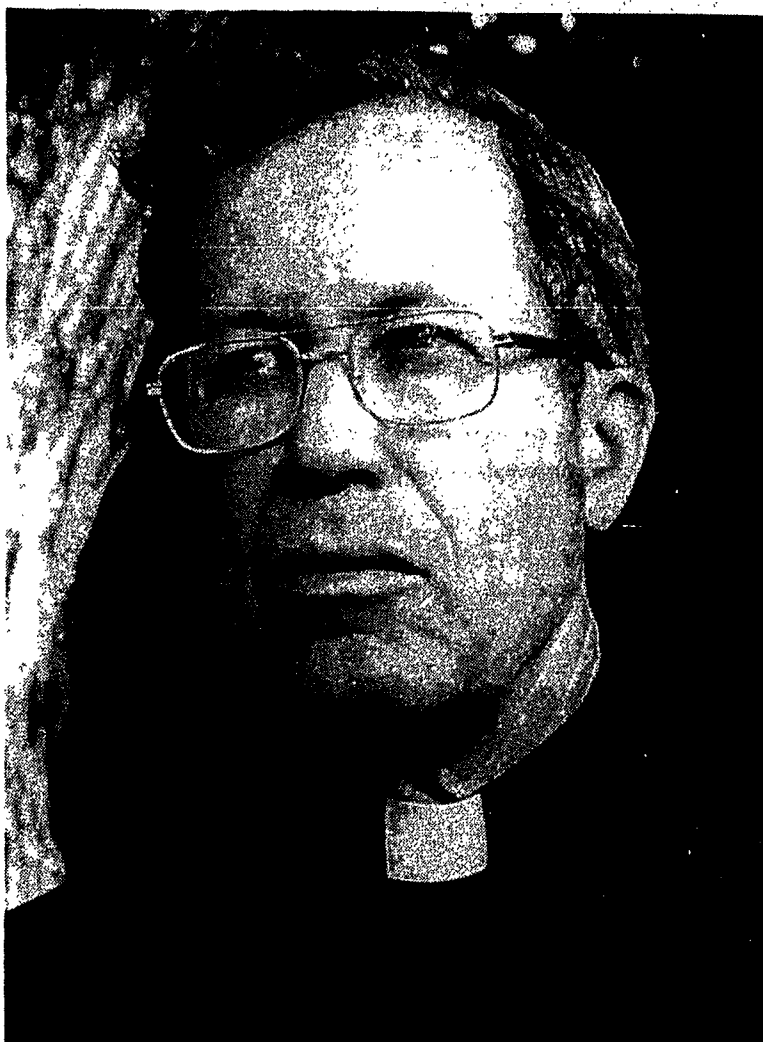

Were it not for the fearless and stubborn spiritual foresight of Divine Word Missionaries to sweat, toil and bleed for the establishment of a Black Catholic clergy, the events in American Church History the last few years and today may have been delayed for many years.

Historic credit goes to Bishop Jules Benjamin Jeanmard, the first bishop of Lafayette, La., for the fatherly and unflinching courage he gave to the initial stages of the Black Catholic clergy.

The November 20th beatification of Mother Katharine Drexel, founder of the Blessed Sacrament Sisters for the evangelization of Native Americans and blacks, is the indelible stamp on the untiring labor in terms of money and personnel she contributed to the realization of the dream that is a reality today.

These are giants in American Church History whom we must respect and highlight.

May joy has no bounds!

Bishop Leonard James Olivier, SVD.

Mississippi "burning" to improve its status

One of the more recent controversies affecting Mississippi has been the release of the movie, "Mississippi Burning," which is based on the slaying of three civil rights activists more than two decades ago.

Mississippi is burning today, but not in the way the film implies.

The controversy has arisen over the way the film presents the state to the rest of the nation, as a backward place rampant with racial prejudice. While the filmmakers have the right to portray history just as those who make movies about the Holocaust do, it must be remembered that some people do not forget.

There is another perspective on this: what about the children who do not remember the old ways? How will they react to such a film, when they have never had to experience such a strong degree of prejudice themselves?

A major concern with the film is the possibility that it might awaken the sleeping dog of racial tension and begin a new period of prejudice.

The film has been condemned by those who fear that the old problems will return and hinder the state's progress once again.

These people need only to look around themselves. Today, people of any race, not just blacks and whites, can do the same things in Mississippi.

Thirty years ago, no blacks served in local, county or state government, let alone had the right to vote freely for the whites who did.

They were not honored as outstanding citizens and were not welcomed in the general business community. Today, things have changed.

Mississippi is burning now, but the fire is one of celebration.

The state is trying to promote itself and to encourage the improvement of crucial areas including education, technology, industrial growth and, most important of all, the image Mississippi has outside the South.

Some might say the desire to promote the state and to present it and its people as they really are has merely been a reaction to the feared impact of the film.

However, that desire existed before the film; tourism councils, economic councils and improvements in government and other areas were in progress long before anyone ever began making "Mississippi Burning."

Mississippians are no longer poor, agricultural types who remained ignorant for the major parts of their natural lives, which were shorter than in other areas due to lack of basic sanitation and the health hazards that go with it.

Mississippi is no longer a state where the only way to succeed is to leave.

As in any other place, there are still those who remain ignorant, but now, they do so by their own choosing.

Mississippi is burning today. Mississippi is burning away the negative aspects of the past and is burning to improve the lot of its people as well as its status among other states.

Prejudice still exists, in Mississippi as well as other regions of the country, but it is not the result of a movie about a crime about a quarter of a century old.

Let the fires of celebration continue to burn as Mississippi moves into the future.

Lisa Doesn't Understand Politics...

All She Knows Is That Mommie Isn't Coming Home Ever Again.

Tragedy in the life of a child—it's testimony to the suffering, death and carnage that continues on Mississippi's highways. A seat belt law could make a difference. Last year 757 people died in traffic accidents and 94 percent of these victims were not buckled up. Had they been, many lives would have been saved—maybe even Lisa's mother. Why can't Mississippi join the ranks of 32 other states who are saving lives? Mississippians say they favor a seat belt law. So get behind our lawmakers, now. Time is short and the stakes are high. Just ask Lisa.

Time and Lives are being wasted.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It was almost impossible to believe, but the State Highway Department moved the pile of trees from the shoulder of U.S. 90 in Bay St. Louis last week.

The large pile of limbs had been an eyesore for many months and it seemed it would never be moved.

We had numerous residents comment to us about the bad impression the pile of trash made on visitors coming into our city from the east.

We know the merchants in the area are also relieved to see the litter gone.

It was heart warming to see so many folks at the Memorial Services for Mississippi Supreme Court Justice J. Ruble Griffin Sunday afternoon.

Friends of Judge Griffin were here from throughout the state to pay tribute to a great citizen of the county who will be sadly missed by so many.

It was good to hear the good words from many of the judge's former colleagues and friends.

We have heard of all types of scams being pulled in the area, but the latest has to be one of the most unique.

An elderly couple residing in the Cedar Point area of Bay St. Louis was approached by a white male and two females with a dump truck load of dirt.

They told the couple they were doing a job and had the extra load of soil, and before the couple could decide if they wanted the materials it was dumped on their property and spread.

The couple was charged $300, which is probably very high to begin with, yet the story continues.

We are told the trio returned the next day to say they overcharged the couple and they were due a rebate. Upon being let into the house they ransacked the place.

Isn't it a shame how some people will try just about anything to beat our elderly out of money and possessions?

We would like to suggest that any time a resident is approached by someone who wants to perform a task, never let them in your house and be sure to get references from them before letting them do anything.

If they are persistent, give your police department a call.

The council chamber of Bay St. Louis was overflowing Tuesday night for the vote count of the special election.

It is hoped a larger facility will be used for the city's election in May when all city election positions will be sought. The council chamber is just not large enough to accommodate such a crowd.

It was good to see so many citizens concerned about the outcome of the election.

Bay residents should not forget the run-off election for councilman-at-large to be held next Tuesday.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Streamline government instead of raising taxes

Mississippi's state budget, including both General Fund and Special Fund expenditures, will exceed $4 billion for the first time in fiscal 1990.

That report brings to mind the appeal made to state business leaders a few days ago by a legislative fiscal expert.

Said Rep. H. L. "Sonny" Merideth to the business group: "Don't allow the Legislature to raise taxes. Don't let legislators solve the state's fiscal problems with your pocketbooks."

What Merideth, a former chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, was saying is that there are still improvements to be made in Mississippi's state government, that we can make much better use of the dollars we have.

The message from Merideth was clear: it's time for more accountability and more efficiency in government in Mississippi.

The message from Mississippians to the Legislature should be just as clear:

When it comes to a tax increase: "Just say no."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Diamondhead resident apologizes to DPO board

To the Editor:

I owe an apology to the newly elected board members of the Diamondhead Property Owners Association for any misunderstanding caused by my letter dated Jan. 7. These new officers of the board, Mr. Elmer Tapper, president; Mr. Jack O'Barr, vice president; and Mr. Richard Hopkins, treasurer, are doing all they can to make positive changes in the way decisions are made and business is conducted for the good of all Diamondhead property owners.

My comments and criticism should have been, and is, directed toward those on the board who, it seems to me, are determined to undermine every positive action suggested and put forth by the newly elected officers.

The point I wish to make in this and in my previous letter, is that nothing good comes with censorship of information. I believe we, as property owners, have a right to know what risks we face in the decision to continue a costly legal battle over the ill-placed maintenance yard.

Candidates urged to clean up campaign art

To the Editor,

During the campaign for city office that just concluded, candidates were asked by the mayor to comply with the city ordinance restricting signs on public rights-of-way.

The candidates varied in their responses. Some ignored the law and the remainder complied, yielding campaigning advantage to the lawbreakers in doing so.

Since residents and taxpayers are stuck with looking at "elect so and so" posters left up after the voting, and must eventually pay city workers to pick them up (or do it themselves) the use of private property (with permission) is a good idea, unless future candidates want to number their posters and pay a fine if all are not removed later from public places.

No wonder that we have a nice, fresh layer of droppings along our streets every day—our candidates for public office begin their terms by leaving rubbish along our roadsides! Candidates, clean up after yourselves; even kids do that.

Residents of Bay St. Louis, Waveland are best asset

To the Editor:

I was asked recently to state what I liked most about living in Bay St. Louis. There is so much to praise about our Gulf Coast community until I really don't know where to start.

I like the informal friendliness of the people who live here and especially the gracious way they respond to people seeking help, information or directions.

I like the courteous way in which they make their replies. Only yesterday The Chamber of Commerce had information I needed at a finger tip, and the City-County Library was most cooperative when I asked who the governor of Kentucky was in 1952. (No I was not playing a game of Trivia). This man was the first to draft a proclamation naming February our National History Month. That library knows where to find the answers...immediately.

Every day I see people politely giving their places in lines when they see a need to do so, and I would have to look hard and long to find one of our citizens wearing a frown and impatiently blowing a car horn—or participating in a loud argument.

What do I like best about Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Hancock County? I like the people. They may not always find time to smell the daisies, but their everyday manners show them to be refined and caring.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From The Office of Senator Thad Cochran

Cochran named to key Senate committees

Senator Thad Cochran will be serving on four key Senate committees during the just-convened 101st Congress.

The Republican Conference of the Senate has assigned him to the Committees on Appropriations, Agriculture, Labor and Human Resources, and Indian Affairs.

The 1989-90 sessions will be the first time Senator Cochran has served on four legislative committees.

His reappointment to Appropriations and Agriculture makes him one of the highest ranking members of these panels.

The Labor and Human Resources Committee has jurisdiction over education, labor and family issues. The Committee on Indian Affairs has oversight of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and issues affecting the interests of native Americans.

"These committee assignments will keep me busy, but they give our state a voice in discussions of many crucially important areas of interest. I look forward to being actively involved in the work of these committees," Cochran said.

His Republican Conference colleagues also unanimously re-elected him secretary of that body, the third consecutive two-year term in this leadership position.

In addition to working with his Republican leadership colleagues on legislative, policy and floor action, the position also involved the GOP leadership team in periodic meetings at the White House with the President, Cabinet and other administration officials.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Non-profit financial counseling available for local consumers

Although bankruptcy filings have increased from 229,000 in 1979 to 663,000 in 1987, there does seem to be some hope for the deeply indebted. A recent university study indicated a reduced incidence of bankruptcy in areas where non-profit financial counseling was available.

Many over-extended consumers are seeking relief from their debts without filing bankruptcy by consulting one of the non-profit services available in the Gulf Coast area.

The Consumer Management Center is provided as a service of Mississippi State University's Cooperative Extension Service. In addition to providing free budgeting materials, the Money Management Center assists consumers with personal budgets and credit repayment plans.

Appointments for personal consultations can be scheduled in Pascagoula, Biloxi and Bay St. Louis by calling 388-4710.

For military personnel, the Personal Financial Management Program (PFMP) provides volunteer counselors to assist in budget preparation and repayment plans to creditors. The counselors can also guide clients to military and other community service agencies that may provide additional assistance. More information on the program can be obtained by contacting Perry Cash at the Family Support Center on base.

For consumers looking for a service that actually makes payments to their creditors, non-profit Consumer Credit Counseling Service is available in Slidell, New Orleans and Pensacola.

One payment is made each pay period to the counseling service. Individual credit payments are disbursed by the Consumer Credit Counseling Service. There may be a small fee based upon the client's income.

However, non-profit Consumer Credit Counseling should be distinguished from a "for profit" counseling service. Many "for profit" services charge hundreds or even thousands of dollars for this type service. Payment plans through a credit counseling service may run as long as three to five years depending on indebtedness and income.

and signaled the era of the 50's as they invited all to drop in at the Frost Top.

The officers emerged in pairs, with each pair attired in glittering off-the-shoulder identical gowns and metallic lace encrusted with rhinestones. Each featured portrait neckline edged in flower appliques in the colors of purple, red and black, respectively.

Much to the delight and surprise of the audience, the captain, clad in black sequined pants and jackets, entered the stage on a motorcycle portraying 'The Leader of the Pack.'

The entertainment continued as the music of the 50's with delectable sounds of magical memories introduced the maids and dukes of the royal court.

In 1952 Frankie Avalon crooned 'Out-of-this-World' as the first maid, the goddess of love, 'Venus,' wore a gown of silver lame' with empire waist cascading into a princess silhouette which was the backdrop for shell designed appliques of mauve and aubergine sequins. The same design enhanced the full cloak of crystalline taffeta laden with pearls and paillettes. A silver lame' headdress of Elizabethan influence was topped with mauve plumage and hand applied sequins, creating a crown effect with an illusion of chiffon which thus created a gossamer effect. Her duke wore an exciting costume in matching design.

The year was 1954 and Jo Stafford belted out a Cajun tune, 'Shrimp Boats are A-Coming.' The second maid floated across the floor in a gown of aqua and azure metallic satin. Detailed waves were outlined along the neck and hemline and accented with sequins and crystals. The focal point of her impressive mantle and headdress was the 'larger-than-life' shrimp applique design. Her duke wore a dramatic costume of matching design.

In 1955 the next maid captivated the audience while the band played 'The Wheel of Fortune.' The maid representing this favorite song, wore a sheath gown of red peau-de-soie, featuring an asymmetrical neckline. The attached train was highlighted with appliques of sequins, cards and coins. Her duke wore an equally authentic costume.

In 1957 the Four Tops excited the jive kids with that jungle antic 'Witch Doctor.' The fourth maid portraying the 'Witch Doctor' ascended on stage in an African-inspired gown of turquoise velvet and metallic stripes.

The sleeves were fashioned of raffia while pearls and sequins adorned the A-line skirt. Her 'voodoo'-inspired train was decorated with 'Medicine Man' appliques of sequins and jewels and was surrounded by peacock feathers. Her headpiece extraordinary was highlighted by shell embedded in a profusion of peacock feathers and regal purple plumes. Her duke portrayed the 'Witch Doctor' himself.

The memory of Nat King Cole lived again through the maid portraying 'Mona Lisa.' The Renaissance-inspired gown of Magenta velvet and black moire featured jagged-edged capelet sleeves and neckline that were outlined in gold and silver sequins and Austrian cut crystals. The focal point of the gown was the mosaic crest and crown applied on the center of the skirt. The mantle was constructed of metallic-like lace giving a 'brocade' effect.

The headdress of magenta plumes, gold 'lame' and velvet was embellished with Austrian cut crystals and sequins and drew attention to the 'Lady with the Mystic Smile.' Her duke wore an equally authentic costume.

Mitch Miller told the U.S.A. about that 'Yellow Rose of Texas' as portrayed by the last maid. Her gown was fashioned of jade lame' featuring a bodice covered with golden ornamental jewels, sequins and beads. Peplum overskirts created flounced petal and leaf layers. A full-hoop skirt of yellow organza was dotted with gold glitter. The sweeping train was embellished with a gold scrolled design. Gold plumage and yellow organza formed petals representing that unforgettable 'Rose of Texas.' Her duke portrayed that special cowboy of matching design.

Hail, Hail, Queen Doris XXIII, personifying the 'Spirit of Music' and reigning as Queen of the Ball, ascended in royal splendor in an original gown of royal blue peau-de-soie featuring a sweetheart neckline. Rhinestones and bugle beads formed the capped sleeves. Attention was drawn to the center panel of deep royal blue velvet encrusted with a crystal, flower-inspired flowing skirt studded with hand applied silver and royal stones.

Her train of royal blue velvet was outlined in ermine and was heavily appliqued with symbols representing the 'Music of the 50's.' The impressive mantle was a profusion of plumage arising from a base of silver lame' and velvet and embellished with sequins and rhinestones. Her royal crown was heavily jeweled with sapphires, pearls and rhinestones.

King Nereus XXIII, Mr. Herbert T. Dubuison, wore a royal blue peau-de-soie tunic encrusted with jeweled appliques, featuring Elizabethan period glittering sleeves with a mantle to complement his queen's.

To keep with the true New Orleans Mardi Gras tradition, the identity of the queen and her royal maids are kept secret.

Pages to His and Her Majesty were Miss Lindy Ann Heitzmann, Miss Jennifer Lynette Scanlan, Master Jonathan Alan Uram, and Master Daniel Andrew Durazo.

Kevin Champagne of New Orleans was the choreographer for the krewe. Costumes for the court were designed by Carter Church, also of New Orleans. Sets were designed and executed by Ed Scanlan of Waveland and W. H. B. Spanenberg Studios of New Orleans.

Southern Baptists to observe sanctity of life this month

Thousands of Southern Baptist churches will observe Sanctity of Human Life Sundays during the month of January. This will mark the 16th year since the Supreme Court legalized abortion-on-demand throughout the entire nine months of pregnancy on Jan. 22, 1973. During that time, nearly 1.8 million abortions have occurred annually, making it the most common surgery performed in our nation except for biopsies.

Southern Baptists began observing the annual January commemoration four years ago when Sanctity of Human Life Sunday was placed on the denomination's official calendar at the 1985 annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention in Dallas.

Since that time, Southern Baptists have become steadily more committed to the belief that human life begins at conception and deserves the full protection of the law regardless of stage of development of condition or dependency.

Several pro-life advocates have recently been appointed to top leadership positions at some of the denomination's cooperatively supported agencies. Dr. Larry Lewis, long known as an active right to life supporter, was appointed president of the Atlanta based Home Mission Board in 1987. He has since led that agency in a program to assist churches in starting crisis pregnancy centers for women with problem pregnancies.

Dr. Lewis Drummond, recently appointed president of one of the denomination's six seminaries, is reported to hold conservative views about abortion and related moral issues. This fall, the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission, a small Nashville based agency charged with addressing moral, ethical, and governmental issues, selected Dr. Richard Land, an outspoken opponent of legalized abortion, to head that agency.

In February of 1988, the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, one of the world's largest religious publishing houses, announced plans to publish annual pro-life Sunday School lessons for Sanctity of Human Life Sunday beginning two years from now. The result will be approximately 5.8 million units of pro-life literature, probably the largest volume of such material ever distributed at one time.

Since 1980 Southern Baptists have repeatedly expressed their opposition to legalized abortion-on-demand through resolutions passed each year at the denomination's annual meeting. During that time, Southern Baptist leaders and church members have increasingly taken a more prominent role in the pro-life movement.

Court

October.

Circuit Court now meets six times a year, beginning the second weeks of January, March, May, July, September and November. Terms last about three weeks.

A Grand Jury is empanelled in January and July of each year, necessitating the need for a room in addition to the courtroom because the sessions coincide with court terms. In addition, Grand Jury proceedings, unlike most Circuit Court proceedings, are closed to all except the court personnel, jurors and witnesses.

If a petit jury is called for a Circuit Court trial, a room is needed to isolate the jurors when they are not actually in the courtroom.

Rooms used range from the small conference room adjacent to the board of supervisors office downstairs, which is also used for supervisors' workshops, attorney's conferences, a polling place in county elections and for several other purposes, to the Hancock County Law Library on the third floor of the courthouse.

Cuevas said the third floor, which is occupied by the law library and storage, might offer some possibility for expansion, as Necaise's office has been putting old records on microfilm and there is now a law providing for disposal of some of the original records.

Cuevas said building onto the original courthouse would destroy most of what little parking is available.

"The parking is the biggest problem of all," the board president said. "Usually what happens is that people will circle until they find a spot, and it's usually a couple blocks away. That by itself is going to be a challenge."

"I think the public needs to realize that the problem is not unnoticed, but we don't have the means right now to correct it."

Cuevas said he hopes to discuss the matter with the rest of the board but does not yet know when he will do so.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. Jan. 30 in the courthouse's upstairs boardroom.

Bay fire truck sold to Fenton volunteers

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Bay St. Louis City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night approved the sale of one of its old fire trucks to Fenton Volunteer Fire Department for $5,500.

The city had been attempting to sell the pumper since it took delivery a new mini-pumper earlier this year, making the old truck unnecessary.

The city will receive a $1,000 down payment and three $1,500 payments to be made over the next year and a half, coinciding with Fentons insurance rebates and tax settlements.

Bay St. Louis had originally attempted to negotiate a purchase of the truck by the Bayside Park Volunteer Fire Department, but did not receive a response from the attorney general's office on the legality of selling it without taking bids.

When the truck was put up for bid, no offers were made, but Fenton expressed an interest in the truck given it could be purchased under the payment schedule described above.

"As it is now the truck is just a big hunk of metal that we have no use for. The way I see it, we might as well sell it to someone who can use it before it rusts away," Mayor Victor Frankiewicz said.

Tigers, Lady Tigers lose to Hawks

Lady Tigers upset Picayune Tidettes

Bay KANTA' HAYNES
BHS Correspondent

Friday, Jan. 13, the Bay High Tigers and Lady Tigers hosted the Picayune Maroon Tide and Tidettes in the Tiger Dome to lose a close boys' varsity contest and to win by 20 points in the varsity girls' contest.

Throughout the whole varsity boys' contest, the Bay High Tigers led the score boards, but in the last quarter game play the Maroon Tide shot a two-point bucket that determined a game of 63-62.

The Tigers placed two Tigers in double figures and outrebounded the Maroon Tide 37-33.

Leading the way for Bay High was Alvon Dedeaux with 21 points and five rebounds.

Other high rollers for the Tigers were Cedric Walker and Freddie Necaise with 12 points each. Walker also pulled down five caroms and Necaise managed 11 rebounds.

Also adding to the Tigers' scoring attack were Mike Scharp, eight; David Weems, six; and Mike Kennedy added three points.

The leading scorer for Picayune was Juan Aultman with 26 points.

In the varsity girls' competition, the Bay High Lady Tigers led the score boards throughout the game and placed two Lady Tigers in double figures and outrebounded the Tidettes 51-30.

With 26 points and five rebounds, senior Deborah Deloach led the Lady Tigers to a triumphant decision over the Tidettes.

Also scoring big for the Lady Tigers was Kinta Ladner with 15 points and six caroms.

Other point clenchers were junior Stacy Sheppard with seven points; sophomore Patrice Avery with four points; and senior Tunisia McKay also added four points and 15 rebounds for the Lady Tigers.

Vida Laneaux also contributed three points and Dedra McGowan tipped a two-point shot for the Lady Tigers.

Leading the Tidettes was Kristi Mitchell with 18 points.

In the junior varsity round of action, Bay High was led by junior Bruce Jones with 17 points; sophomore Calvin Thigpen with 14 points and James Mayfield with 12 points.

Picayune was led by Cedric Jones and Delon Marzette with 12 points.

"We played one of our better games of the year," commented Coach Michael Ladner. "We outplayed Picayune in every respect, except they were ahead when the buzzer sounded, which is what counts in everybody's eyes except a coach's."

"In the girls' action, we played a very good defensive game which led to points on the board," added Ladner. "This is our largest margin of victory to date."

Bay High travels to Pearl River for a round robin tournament beginning Jan. 19.

TIGERS HOST HAWKS

The Bay High Tigers and Lady Tigers hosted the Hancock North Central Hawks in the Tiger Dome Jan. 10 in two fast-paced varsity contests.

In the varsity boys' contest, the Bay High Tigers got off to a slow first quarter, but came back in the second half to play a competitive third and fourth quarter to lose a game, 55-43.

Leading the way for Bay High was senior Freddie Necaise with 17 points and 15 rebounds. David Weems had nine points to add to Necaise's high scoring.

Also assisting Necaise were Cedric Walker and Alvin Dedeaux with five points each and a combination of 18 caroms.

Other Tigers reaching the score boards were Mike Scharp with four points and Will Seymour with three points and five assists.

Scoring for Hancock North Central were Sherwin Ladner with 15 points and Derek Peterson with 11 points.

In the girls' game, Bay High Lady Tigers fell short in the first half with a score of 20-6, but came back in the third quarter of the game to play a very strong defensive game ending in defeat, 63-57.

Leading the Lady Tigers was guard Kinta Ladner with 16 points, seven rebounds and five steals.

Another high scorer for the Lady Tigers was Deborah Deloach with 12 points.

Also contributing to the Lady Tigers' scoring were Tunisia McKay with nine points and seven caroms; Kecia Walker with seven points; and Stacy Sheppard with six points.

Dedra McGowan chipped in five points and Vida Laneaux nailed in a two-pointer.

The Lady Hawks were led by Jill Forrest with 16 points.

In the junior varsity contest the Tigers were led by Jason Mayfield with 10 points, and sophomores Calvin Thigpen and James Mayfield contributed eight points each.

The Hawks were led by Kyle Ahlers with 18 points.

"The boys were outplayed in the third quarter, and I think that proved to be our downfall," commented Michael Ladner, Tiger coach.

"The girls made a solid comeback with a great defensive effort, but still fell short in the fourth quarter," added Ladner.

Ladner also added that the Tigers are 4-14 on the season while the Lady Tigers are 8-10.

SSC varsity cagers split with George Co., d'Iberville

After suffering a setback at George County last Friday, the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaw Varsity Basketball team rebounded with a victory over d'Iberville Saturday night.

The George County Rebels and St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws were both unbeaten in district play when they met Friday in Lucedale. When the contest was over, George County was in sole possession of first place in District 4A with an 85-55 win over the Rock-A-Chaws.

"Our second quarter turnovers and missed shots killed us," commented SSC head coach Chuck Genin.

"We did not execute our total game against George County and we paid the price on the scoreboard," said Genin. The loss dropped the Rocks to 15-4 overall and 5-1 in district.

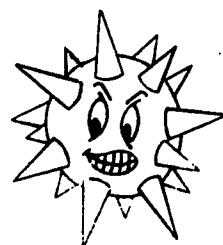

Leading scorers for the Rocks in the George County game were Shannon Garrett with 14 points, followed by Greg Schuff with 13 points.

But Saturday, as they say, was another day, as the Rocks picked up an important district win over the d'Iberville Warriors.

"The key to our win over d'Iberville was that we got Jones (their big man) in foul trouble early, and dominated the paint. We were also very fastbreak on them," said Genin.

"We definitely executed our game plan well, and played good defense," continued Genin. "Playing good defense forced our opponents out of their offense."

The Rock-A-Chaws and Warriors squared off again Tuesday evening at the Rock-A-Chaw gym in a critical game to help determine second place in District 4A.

Junior Rocks post win over Pearl River Central

The St. Stanislaus 7th and 8th Grade Basketball team improved their record to 8-2 with a convincing 45-25 win over Pearl River Central last week at Carriere.

Leading the scoring for SSC were Derek Inkol with 15 points, followed by Jeff Bishop with 11 points and Bo Miller with 8 points.

PRC jumped out to a 10-1 first quarter lead, but Inkol hit a three-point shot as St. Stanislaus scored 13 unanswered points to take the lead. At halftime the Rocks led by a 19-15 margin.

In the third period, the Rock-A-Chaws used a full-court press, which frustrated PRC and blew the game wide open for SSC.

"Everyone gave a tremendous effort. Bo Miller had a superb game on offense and defense. Our second team played the entire fourth period against PRC's starting unit, and did quite well," said Coach Rory Rafferty.

"Overall, we play together well as a unit, although at times we're sometimes too overconfident. We have important upcoming games with Long Beach, d'Iberville, and Hancock North Central in which we must play our very best in order to win," commented Coach Rafferty.

Bay Area Youth Soccer begins spring season

Bay Area Youth Soccer has just begun the spring season with a series of Saturday games for the Under-8, Under-10 and Under-12 age groups. Fortunately the rainy weather did not interfere with the playing of most of the games with only one game being replayed on Sunday afternoon.

In Under-12, Coach Ronnie LaFontaine's Hurricane Team has won their first game of the season, defeating the McDonald Realty team 2-0.

Coach Leo Laurent's Burger King Whoppers defeated the Biloxi Bulldogs, 11-0. Goals were scored by Joshua Wilson, 3; Leo Laurent, 2; Jerry Peoples, 2; Sean Ziegler, 2; Mike Sanders, 1; and Tommy March, 1.

Laurent also commended the defensive efforts of the team for outstanding performance.

In Under-10 play, Coach Tom Demboski's Gulf Coast Fabrication Jaguar team defeated Coach Craig Foster's Charles H. Johnson Inc. Bay Rats team by a score of 4-0.

In the first game for Coach Jerry Peoples' Bad Blues, the Blues team defeated Coach Jerome Lenfant's Hurricanes, sponsored by Mike Perniciaro's Wrecker, by a score of 1-0. That goal was made by Derek Bradley.

Coach Peoples stated, "It was a well fought defensive game and I congratulate both teams for their strong defensive play."

Coach Peoples credited Coach Bradley and Coach Ray Kidd for the team victory.

In Under-8 play, Coach Steve Carver's GGG Supply Sweepers defeated Coach Mike Carron's Goodyear Tornados by a score of 6-0.

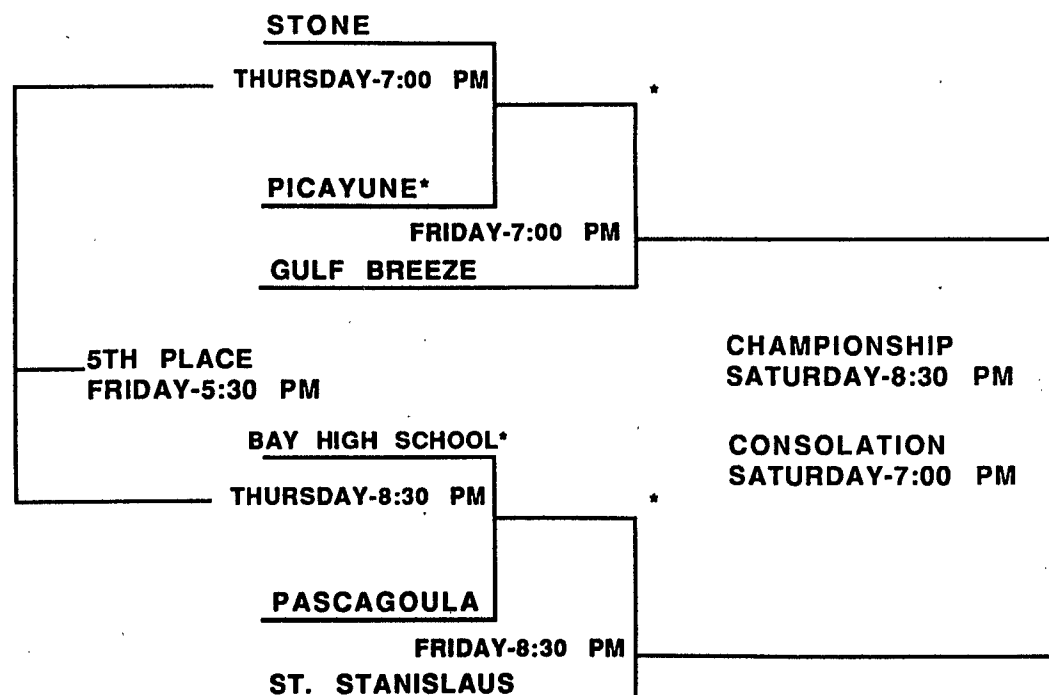

Dusty Carver scored three goals, Ronnie Vannie scored two goals and Steve Peterman scored one goal for the Sweepers in fine team play.

Christine Ross' Rick's Trophies Raiders defeated Timmy Kingston's Alcan. Cable Chargers by a score of 5-0 in their first game of the season.

Coach Ginn's Peoples Bank Wildcats defeated Coach Jimmy Rutherford's G.E. Plastics Stingers by a score of 4-0, in a game that was interrupted by SSC SOCCER ACTION—St. Stanislaus soccer play earlier this season against St. John of Gulfport.

Eight players remain on PRC men's squad

Pearl River Community College basketball coach Peter Georgian must feel a little like General Custer—his men are putting up a good fight, but they are outnumbered.

Only eight players reported back to the Wildcat squad following the holiday break, and while the Cats are playing hard, Georgian said the lack of bench depth is hurting the team in the closing minutes of each game. PRC is 1-3 since the break, following Thursday's 76-65 loss to Gulfport, but Georgian said the team had a chance to be 3-1.

"They (the players) just kind of ran out of gas," in several of the games, he said.

In addition to wearing the players thin during the latter moments of the game, the reduced roster has meant tactical changes for Georgian.

"We've had to make a lot of changes," he said. "It's just hard for us to go full court for any length of time."

Despite the problems, Georgian feels his team can turn things around by the end of the season. The key, he said, is to improve play by the guards.

Guard play has been the stumbling block for the 6-11 Cats all season, Georgian said. Earlier in the season the guards were turning the ball over 17 times per game.

While that average has fallen to 12 per outing, Georgian said there is still much room for improvement, pointing out the team total is only 15 turnover per game.

He said the team's inside game is progressing well, with Andrew Neely leading the team with 20 and 15 rebounds per game, while Wendell Carter is chipping in 14 points and 11 rebounds an outing.

Georgian said if the guards continue to improve, things may begin to look up for his team, which is 1-4 in the South Division with two key division games on tap this week.

rain and forced to be completed on Sunday afternoon due to the inclement weather.

Since half the game had been played on Saturday, the official score of the game will be recorded as 2-0, the half-time score, however, by completing the game on Sunday, it afforded all of the youths an opportunity to play in at least two quarters in the game and alleviated any possibility of having to replay the game at a later date.

The Under-14 boys also won their game in afternoon play at the Seminary Field.

Under-10 Girls

Bernard Tusa's Under-10

Patriots, sponsored by Bernard Construction, posted two wins Saturday. They defeated the Gulfport Golden Girls 3-0 in the rain, and the Gulfport Showgirls in an excellent display of soccer skills.

Scoring goals were Lauren Tusa, 3; Melissa Carver, 2; Alicia Gavagnie, 2; Meredith Quinlan, 1; Kathryn Scaffidi, 1; Amanda Kingston, 1; Rachael Perniciaro, 1; and Casey Bernard, 1.

Next Saturday in addition to the regularly scheduled games, the Under-12 Girls and the Under-14 Girls will be playing at home on the BAYS fields.

SSC soccer team beats Bay High, 4-2

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaw soccer team rebounded from a tough 2-1 loss to Long Beach last week to defeat Bay High last Friday 4-2 in a game played at the Rock-A-Chaw Stadium.

The first half remained scoreless, but SSC came out charging the second half and controlled the ball for most of the period.

SSC scored three unanswered goals to take command of the contest, before Bay High capitalized on an SSC goalie error to obtain their first goal.

The Rock-A-Chaws immediately responded with their fourth goal of the evening. Later in the contest Bay High punched in their second goal of the game as the score ended 4-2.

Brian Brooks and Troy Pepperman each scored two goals for the Rock-A-Chaws. Scoring for the Tigers were Richard Muriel and Matt Murphy.

Credited with assists from SSC were Terry LeBourgeois, David Eckert and Trey Kidd.

The win gave the Rock-A-Chaws a 4-3 district record. In the preliminary junior varsity contest, the Rocks won 4-0. Jonathan Compretta scored two goals, while Kevin Bourand John Rutherford each scored a goal.

St. Stanislaus will take on the challenge of a strong Gulfport Admiral squad this Friday at Rock-A-Chaw Stadium. Game time is 7 p.m. The Admirals narrowly defeated Harrison Central 3-2 in double overtime last Friday evening.

ESPN to feature MSU vs Georgia

The Mississippi State Bulldogs entertain the Georgia Bulldogs in a nationally-televised contest on Thursday, Jan. 19 before heading to Gainesville to take on the Florida Gators on Saturday, Jan. 21.

The Mississippi State-Georgia game on Jan. 19 will be nationally-televised by ESPN with Tim Brando handling the play-by-play duties and former Ohio State and Indiana Pacers standout Clark Kellogg providing the color commentary. Tip-off at Humphrey Coliseum on the MSU campus is set for 7 p.m.

Mississippi State owns an 8-5 overall mark, 2-2 in SEC play after besting Auburn (69-56) at home on Jan. 11 and then dropping a 97-80 decision at Alabama this past Saturday (Jan. 14).

The Georgia Bulldogs are 9-6 overall, 1-4 in the SEC, after a pair of league road losses this past week. Georgia was downed, 60-62, at Alabama on Wed., Jan. 11 and then dropped a heartbreaking 76-75 decision at Vanderbilt this past weekend (Jan. 14).

The Gators of Florida bring an 8-8 overall record into this week's action. Florida owns a 2-3 SEC mark after falling to Kentucky, 69-56, at home on Wed., Jan. 11 and then bouncing back with a 79-75 victory at Auburn on Saturday (Jan. 14). VA insurance payout nearly $7 million

The Veterans Administration will pay nearly $7 million in dividends to Mississippi veterans who hold active VA life insurance policies. Nationwide, the total payout will exceed $1 billion—the largest amount in the 70-year history of the program.

The record payout will be sent automatically to 20,029 veterans in the state on the anniversary date of their policies. The payment will be in the form of dividend checks or one of five other payment options they selected. No application from individual policyholders is necessary.

Jeff Ryker, VA regional office director in Jackson, said the dividend reflects both favorable claims experience and high yields on trust funds invested in U.S. Government securities.

Government life insurance policies were issued to veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean Conflict from 1919 to 1966. Only those policies that have been kept in force receive annual dividend distributions.

Nationwide, nearly three million veterans will receive insurance dividends. In Mississippi, 17,599 World War II veterans with National Service Life Insurance will each receive an average of $350.

World War I veterans holding U.S. Government Life Insurance policies will receive an average of $257. There are currently 299 of these veterans in Mississippi.

Dividends will average $310 for about 1,500 Mississippi veterans who have Veterans Special Life Insurance.

Holders of 'J', 'JR', and 'JS' policies—Veterans Reopened Insurance—will receive 1989 dividends averaging $284.

Individual payments under each of the seven programs paying dividends vary according to age, type of insurance and length of time a policy has been in force.

The VA also administers a special life insurance program for disabled veterans and another offering mortgage life insurance coverage, neither of which pays dividends. The VA supervises a contract with a private carrier who underwrites Servicemen's Group Life Insurance for active-duty service members and reservists.

Locally, veterans who have questions about their own life insurance can also call directly to the insurance office toll free at 1-800-422-8079, or contact Noel Hatten, Veterans Service officer, Tuesdays and Thursdays, phone 928-7509.

Lady Tigers first in Picayune Tournament

By Kanta' Haynes
BHS Correspondent
The Bay High Tigers and Lady Tigers participated in the Fourth Annual Picayune Invitational Tournament held in Picayune on Jan. 5-7. The Lady Tigers took home a first place trophy in the girls' round robin, and the Tigers played two action-packed contests in the double elimination boys' division.

Thursday
The Lady Tigers went head-on with the Lady Devils of Pearl River Central to take a 41-33 decision over PRC. Besides taking the victory away from the Lady Devils, the Lady Tigers also placed one hoopster in double figures. The leading hoopster for Bay High was guard Kinta Ladner with 12 points.

Other Lady Tigers helping to clench this win were senior Dedra McGowan with seven points, guard Deborah Deloach and forward Tunisia McKay with six points each. McKay also pulled down 13 rebounds.

Also assisting in Bay High's effort was senior LaKeshia Bell with three points, and sophomore Kecia Walker contributed a two-pointer and five caroms.

Lady Tiger Coach Michael Ladner commented, "We started well and we shot well in the first half, but we picked up one defensive pressure in the third quarter, held the Devils by only three points and that was the difference in the ball game."

Friday
The Lady Tigers played the Picayune Tidettes winning the ball game with a score of 64-52 and placing three Lady Tigers in double figures.

In this girls' competition the Lady Tigers dominated Picayune in the rebounding part of the game with a rebounding margin of 54-43.

The leading netters for Bay High were guard Deborah Deloach with 21 points and 10 rebounds, and junior Kinta Ladner netted 14 points for the Lady Tigers.

Senior Dedra McGowan added 10 points to the Lady Tigers' scoring ability on the boards.

Accompanying the top scorers were senior Tunisia McKay shooting in eight points and pulling down 15 caroms; sophomores Patrice Avery and Kecia Walker added six and three points, respectively.

Freshmen Yolanda Jackson hit a two-pointer for the Lady Tigers.

Leading the way for Picayune were Kristi Mitchell with 13 points and Stacy White with 10 points.

Leading the way for the Lady Devils was Wendy Palmer with 13 points.

"We played one of our better games of the year tonight. We had a balanced scoring and an excellent effort. We played smart basketball, and we shot the ball well," Ladner stated.

Saturday
In the final match of the tournament, the Lady Tigers defeated the Poplarville Hornets to bring home a first place trophy. In the close 56-54 decision, the Tiger team placed two senior players in double figures.

Senior Debra Deloach and Tunisia McKay topped the boards with 19 and 17 points, respectively. McKay snatched 20 rebounds.

Also contributing to Bay High's scoring effort were guard Kinta Ladner with eight points; forward Kecia Walker hooped in six points and five caroms. Patrice Avery sank in four points, and junior Stacy Sheppard dunked two points.

SSC former basketball players to hold reunion

Former St. Stanislaus basketball players will have a reunion on Friday, Jan. 20 on the school campus.

Various activities are being planned to coincide with the SSC varsity basketball game at evening. There will be a reception at 5 p.m. in the school hall.

This will be followed by an 'old-timers game.' All former players will be introduced before the varsity game. This varsity game (beginning at 7:30 p.m.) is an important district contest with East Central.

Anyone needing further information should contact Chuck Genin or Jerry Spell at St. Stanislaus at 467-9057.

Foul penalties keep PRC's McGill off basketball court

When you are 6'2 and lead the state in scoring you tend to draw some attention, but Pearl River Community College Lady Wildcat basketball coach Polly Kirkland feels Antrice McGill is getting more than her fair share—at least from the referees.

McGill, who is averaging almost 28 points per game, was held to only two points during the first half of Thursday's 87-78 loss to South Division foe Gulf Coast. One of the factors contributing to the low point production is that McGill picked up two fouls during the first three minutes of the game.

Kirkland said McGill must accept some of the responsibility for the foul problems she has had this season, but she added referees may judge her a little harshly because of her size and ability.

"They do watch her more because she is usually the tallest person on the floor," she said.

"You don't like to have one person so important, but the truth is she is very important to the team's success," Kirkland said.

With McGill in foul trouble her loss of scoring hurts the squad, but the absence of her help on defense is as big a loss.

In Thursday's loss, Charzes Silas was able to kick in with 26 points, hitting on 11 of 16 field goal tries. Cocoa Henry also did more than her part to help fill the gap with 13 assists, bringing her average on the season to just under eight per game.

"Cocoa really did a super job," Kirkland said.

Despite the extra effort by Silas and Henry, and McGill's 20 points game total, the Lady Cats could not overcome the 51-34 halftime-hole they found themselves in, though they were able to pull to within five in the second half.

The Lady Cats are not 8-8 overall, and 1-4 in the South Division.

Understanding bass pattern fishing

For years, the top tournament bass pros in America have been using the term "pattern fishing" to tell how they catch fish. In its broadest sense, it describes where bass are, what they're doing, and what it takes to catch them.

The problem every angler faces, of course, is how to establish a pattern on bass.

"Basically, what the tournament pros do is use both lures and a location to establish a pattern," explains Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff member Zell Rowland. "We fish as fast as we can until we catch one or two bass on that lure, then slow down and fish much more thoroughly to see if additional fish are present in that type of area."

Rowland recommends anglers begin their search for a bass pattern by fishing with a fast-moving lure that can be worked quickly, such as a crankbait, spinnerbait, or even a buzzbait. Then he suggests anglers simply put their trolling motor on high and start fishing a shoreline that has a lot of visible cover.

"This could be the shoreline of a large cove, a tributary creek, or even part of the main lake," explains Rowland. "The idea is to try to find bass in shallow water, and the more cover available, the more likely they will be shallow."

Once a fish or two is caught, says Rowland, it's time to change lures and slow down to see if more bass are present.

"When I'm doing this, I tie on a jig or a plastic worm, turn the boat around, and carefully start fishing the very same cover I've just moved through," the Montgomery, Texas angler explains. "What I have established with my first one or two bass is that some fish may be located in the type of water I'm working."

"By moving through it more slowly a second time, I have a change to 'fine tune' a pattern and locate bass more precisely. They may be holding only on certain types of cover, such as the ends of fallen trees or along the deeper edge of a grassline. By using a worm of jig, I may be able to determine this."

"At this time, too, I can also determine exactly how the fish may want a lure presented."

Normally, most bass pros feel confident they have a pattern established when they catch three or four bass on the same lure and around the same type of cover or structure. A single small fish, or a single large one, is rarely a positive indication additional bass are present.

Quail seminars held statewide

Bobwhite quail hunters and land managers will want to take advantage of a series of quail seminars to be held across Mississippi during January and February.

Hosted by the Department of Wildlife Conservation, the meetings will be conducted by professional quail researchers and scientists.

Seminars will be held in the following locations: Jan. 21 at the Union County courthouse in New Albany; Jan. 22 at the courthouse in Grenada; Feb. 4 in Jackson at the Natural Science Museum; and Feb. 5 at the Laurel Police Training Academy. All meetings begin at 2 p.m., and there is no charge for attendance.

Each program on the agenda will last about an hour and will address all aspects of quail management throughout the year such as habitat, fire, cover, food, and other topics. Emphasis will be on allowing plenty of time for questions from the public.

Speakers for the seminars include Brad Mueller, a quail specialist and researcher at the Tall Timbers Research Station in Tallahassee, Fla., and Scott Sanders, a private consultant employed by American Wildlife Enterprise of Cairo, Ga.

Money to fund the seminars is part of $250,000 small game and quail money given by the last session of the Legislature to the Department of Wildlife Conservation in support of better bird management across the state.

"Of course, there are times when you don't catch any fish while casting to heavy shoreline cover," says Rowland. "Then the best thing to do is change tactics completely and try something different. My two recommendations would be to worm fish a long point so you can probe different depth, or crankbait a deeper creek channel.

"One of the things I always try to do," explains the Evinrude pro, "is look for an area bass will be moving to or from. This can include not only shallow feeding areas in coves or wide flats and points, but also holding areas along channel drops and breaklines.

"Shallow water is nearly always productive if deep water is located nearby, and conversely, deep water is good if there is shallow water nearby."

When river fishing, Rowland advises anglers to remember fish move with currents or tides. They tend to utilize shoreline cover, such as brush, pilings, or rocks that offer calm water refuge in the current.

"The majority of professional bass tournaments are won by anglers fishing less than 10 feet deep," Rowland explains. "Some bass certainly do hold in deeper water, but it's always better to establish a pattern in shallow water whenever possible."

Garber finds answers to veteran's questions

BY DENA BISNETTE
Hancock County Veteran's Service Officer Sandra Garber has moved into a new office in the Russell Building, across Main Street from the courthouse.

Another county employee who works in the same building recently stated that he was surprised to find "such a steady stream of people" going in and out of Garber's office every day.

That number does not surprise Garber, who has been advised by her district office that Hancock County has about 4,000 veterans with about 7,000 dependents obtaining a total of about $3.3 million in benefits each year. To top that off, she is the only full-time professional veteran's service officer in the county.

Hancock County is considered a class one county (by the Veterans Administration), she said, explaining that counties in that category have a high percentage of veterans in proportion to general population.

In Hancock County, most of the veterans are 60 years old or older, she added.

Garber has been veteran's service officer for a little more than two years. Prior to that, she filled in for her predecessor, Michael Ladner, who is now Beat Five supervisor, and offered volunteer help to those veterans who crossed her path.

She said it all started "years ago when a painter fell off the ladder" while working at her house. The painter turned out to be blind and suffered from seizures, but had 12 children at home and was working in order to feed them.

Garber said she wanted to help the man and in talking with him, discovered that he was service-connected but had never received any benefits. With her assistance, the man was classified as 100 percent disabled and eligible for benefits for himself and all of his dependents.

She owed her ability to help the man to her late husband Harry Garber.

"I had to deal with Jackson, Biloxi, Gulfport and New Orleans when my husband Harry was alive. I went through it all," the veteran's service officer explained.

She said if there was a form to fill out or a piece of red tape to cut through, she had found out about it through her husband, who was in and out of hospitals for quite some time before he died.

Now, as service officer, Garber must keep abreast of changes in laws and other regulations regarding Veterans Administration benefits. She attends seminars in order to keep up with new policies.

In addition, she advises veterans and their dependents on a broad range of subjects, including pension benefits, vocational rehabilitation, on-job training, home and trailer loans, government life insurance policies and appeals to the Jackson Regional Office Board of Appeals when benefit applications have been denied.

She also helps 100 percent disabled veterans obtain free car tags, makes appointments at the Veterans Administration Medical Centers in the area for her clients and helps them with application forms and annual income reports.

Garber also assists veterans' dependents.

When she does not have someone in her office, she spends a good deal of her time on the telephone, handling the hundreds of calls she gets each month. In addition, some of her aged or disabled clients can not come to her office, so Garber makes house calls.

Occasionally, a veteran will bring in a form from another agency, such as Medicare, Medicaid or Social Security to ask Garber to help him with it.

Each veteran's organization post has a volunteer service officer who helps with some of the more simple problems, Garber said, but one that would seem easily solved continues to pop up at her office.

"The hardest thing is getting them rides," she explained. "A lot of them have no way to get to the hospital or anywhere else because they can't drive."

She sees an interesting variety of people, ranging from the older veterans to the younger ones who served during the Vietnam era. The county even has a few female veterans.

No matter how poor or how wealthy, they all need some type of assistance if they call on Garber.

She has one veteran, for example, who is presently receiving no benefits other than $84 each month in food stamps and is trying to live on that. On the other end of the spectrum, she had one veteran who was in good financial shape but whose application for a special car tag had apparently gotten lost.

"No particular class needs help more than any other," she said. "Some people just don't know."

"Veterans probably have a better chance for benefits than any other group of people. They even get job preference, particularly for government jobs."

The range of benefits is so wide that Garber seldom refers a veteran to any other agency.

"Most fall under some category that the Veterans Administration serves," she explained.

If someone new comes to see her and wants to know what type of benefits he can obtain, she said the most important thing that person can tell her is his income.

She explained that the constant changes in the organization are making benefits available for some people who could not obtain benefits before.

The question she gets asked most is still, "Mrs. Garber, what does this letter mean?" She knows, and if she does not know, she knows how to find the answer.

Montgomery opposes proposed cuts in veterans' programs

The Reagan Administration presented Capitol Hill with a proposed spending plan for veterans' programs that would cut nearly 9,000 VA health care employees, reduce medical facility construction, and deny medical care to thousands of veterans.

"This is shocking. Whoever planned this budget certainly isn't paying close attention to the real world," remarked Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, chairman of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee. "It marks a continuation of OMB's (Office of Management and Budget) pattern of back door approaches to kill veterans' health care programs. They continue to cut employees and hold back resources and, naturally, fewer veterans will receive care. Then they base their projections on this reduction, and so on, and so on. It's a cycle they've played to the hilt, and this committee is fed up with it."

The Veterans Administration, in recent months, has begun to terminate health care programs, take hospital beds out of service (in addition to thousands already closed), and deny to certain groups of veterans care at virtually every veterans' hospital in the country. House Veterans' Affairs Committee staff forecast, conservatively, a medical budget shortfall over the next two years of $1.1 billion below the amount needed to deliver the level of services provided in FY '88.

The Administration projects what Montgomery calls "unrealistic" declines in the number of veterans utilizing VA health care services. Funding cuts are calculated on these same projections.

According to the Administration, there will be (FY '90 compared to FY '89):

- 17,516 fewer patients treated in VA hospitals;
- a 23.8 percent (6,269) decrease in the number of domiciliary patients; and
- a 23.7 percent (7,983)

decrease in nursing home care patients.

"These numbers fly in the face of all facts and logic. Eligible veterans are literally standing in line for care that this budget seeks to deny them," said Montgomery.

The Administration also proposes to cut the number of full-time medical and research employees by 8,957—from 199,852 to 190,895. The Administration requested medical facility construction funding that falls short of published VA recommendations for FY '90 by at least $180.3 million.

Medical care is not the only program that would be adversely affected if the budget proposals were implemented. Under the Administration's FY '90 blueprint, funding for the Department of Veterans' Benefits, which is responsible for the adjudication of claims for compensation, pension and education benefits as well as home loan guarantees and burial benefits, is $30 million short of a current services level.

The department's employment level would fall 6 percent from the 1988 level of 12,872. This, despite the fact that, since 1979, more than one-third of the DVB workforce has been cut, which has resulted in a continuing deterioration in timeliness and quality of service to veterans.

Other Administration recommendations:

- increase from 1 percent to 3.8 percent the origination fee charged a veteran for a VA-guaranteed home loan;

—repeal the recently-reinstated travel allowance eligibility provisions to allow only veterans in need of special transportation or those who live 100 miles or more from a VA medical facility to receive the benefit; and —reduce medical and prosthetic research by $12.9 million.

Hancock Child Development Center open to paying customers

Due to changes in funding, the Hancock County Child Development Center (CDC) will open its doors to private paying persons effective Feb. 1. The facility is presently funded with Federal Social Service Block Grant monies contracted through the State Department of Public Welfare (DPW). The Hancock County Board of Supervisors also provides a generous amount of funding for this program.

The Hancock County Human Resource Agency, sponsoring organization for the CDC, reached the decision to change from contractual services, the present method of funding, to a slot-purchase system at their December meeting. Of more than 25 centers presently operating in the state, all but four, including the CDC, have not yet switched over to the slot-purchase system.

Under contractual services, the CDC is guaranteed a specified amount of money at the beginning of each contract year (October). Whereas, under the slot-purchase system, the CDC will be reimbursed for the daily attendance of children in the program.

The CDC first began operating in 1978 as a project of Welfare Department's Social Services programs. Fortunately, the program has been allowed to continue and has flourished into a well structured day care center. The center has planned daily activities designed to enhance the developmental cognitive, manipulative and social skills of the young children they serve. The nine-member staff of the CDC have a combined total of 40 years of experience in the program.

The State DPW will reimburse the CDC for 35 of the 43 slots to be available in February. The center presently has 34 children enrolled in its program and will be adding another staff member to cover the new slots.

The new staff member, Augusta Clemmons from Bay St. Louis, has a bachelor of science in elementary education from Rust College in Holly Springs.

There will be eight slots available to private paying persons for children 3-5 years of

This year the alumni association will honor five classes in particular—namely, those classes celebrating a ten-year period since their graduation (classes of '49, '59, '69 and '79) and the class celebrating their 25th year of graduation (class of 1964). Certificates recognizing the time since their graduation will be given to those alumni of the 'honor classes' who are in attendance.

This alumni reunion is open to all alumni of St. Stanislaus and their wives or dates. Reserventions may be made in advance through the Alumni Office at St. Stanislaus at 467-9057.

Stennis starts new career

John C. Stennis began a new career Tuesday a few hours after the official expiration of his final term in the United States Senate, where he served for more than 41 years.

Former senator Stennis became executive-in-residence at his alma mater, Mississippi State University, where he graduated in 1923.

Although Stennis will maintain his home in DeKalb, Ms., he said he will spend most of his time at Mississippi State, consulting with students and faculty and assisting librarians in organizing his official papers.

Sen. Stennis donated his papers to the university in 1973, and will contribute his own recollections to an oral history project based on his career.

Stennis will host seminars for students and serve as a guest lecturer in classes as well as adding personal reflections to the study of the papers from his career in public service.

"I feel like I'm really coming," Stennis said. "I came here as an 18-year-old boy and I never stopped being grateful for the good start I got here. This fits with my philosophy of always looking ahead. I'm continuing to do my best to look ahead and I want to influence the students I come into contact with in that direction, too."

Mississippi's elder statesman will maintain an office at the university library and will live on campus during his stay. Mississippi State President Donald Zacharias said the university has a "unique opportunity" in the return to campus by one of its most distinguished alumni.

"During his years in public office, Sen. Stennis participated in developing policy for some of the most important issues that confronted our nation," Zacharias said. "Although we fully expect him to limit his schedule largely to informal sessions with students and faculty, we know he has many insights to share with future leaders. He has requested that he be given no personal compensation for this service to the university."

"We are honored to have this distinguished statesman back at Mississippi State," Zacharias said.

Sen. Stennis began a public service career in 1928 with election to the Mississippi House of Representatives, and was thereafter continuously in public office until noon on Jan. 3, when his Senate successor took the oath of office.

"It's great to be back," Stennis said. "Starkville has always been my second home." Starkville and Oktibbeha County were within the district Stennis served as a district attorney and circuit judge before entering the Senate in 1941.

"I'm not just coming back to teach. I want to learn myself," Stennis said of his new role. "I never lost my connection with Mississippi State University or my appreciation for what the institution has done for Mississippi."

"This is a continuation of the association over the long years with Mississippi State. All of my life I've had a desire to teach. Although I'm not trained as a teacher, I hope I can be of some benefit by sharing the experiences I've had in public office for over 60 years."

MSU President Zacharias asked Sen. Stennis to consider a position at the university following the senator's 1987 announcement that he would leave the Senate at the start of this year.

Mississippi State also is home to the Stennis Institute of Government and the newly created Stennis Center for Public Service Training and Development.

ON ETV

MELBA

The life of the most unlikely opera star, Nellie Melba, is dramatized in the four-part miniseries 'Melba' presented by 'Great Performances' and airing on Mississippi ETV on four consecutive Fridays at 9 p.m., beginning Jan. 20.

Sumptuously filmed on location in Melba's native Australia, as well as in England, France and Hungary, the story follows the diva from her youth 'down under' to international stardom in the opera houses and courts of Europe.

Medicare seminar slated

A free two-hour seminar on Medicare changes, Medicare Supplemental Insurance and the Long Care Term Crisis will be held Wednesday, Jan. 18 at 10 a.m., at the West Side Community Center in Gulfport on Hwy. 90 West.

This seminar is being sponsored by 'Senior Citizens Really Are People (SCRAP)' of America Inc. and is open to all interested persons, groups, organizations or churches. The public is invited.

Participants will learn about the new Medicare Catastrophic

Law, and how these changes will affect them; how to read and understand insurance policies; how to purchase the most cost-effective coverage; how to avoid being ripped off when buying insurance; how to prepare and prevent financial ruin due to long-term care costs. A free review and analysis of policies will be available for those interested.

Refreshments will be served. Reservations are not required, but are accepted. Call 896-1120 to register.

(ABET), a national accrediting agency for some 135 technology and engineering programs in the United States.

"We are delighted to receive approval of these two academic programs," said Dr. Karen Yarbrough, USM vice president for research and extended services. "These accreditations speak to the high quality of our engineering technology program on our Gulf Coast campuses."

Engineering technology programs have been recognized by many educators as an emerging academic discipline in the United States focusing on teaching students practical, on-the-job problem solving techniques and how to apply new technologies in the workplace.

USM/Gulf Coast Dean Joe Holloway, speaking for some 30 engineering technology majors and four faculty members at the USM/Gulf Coast campuses at Long Beach, Keesler Air Force Base and Gautier, agreed with Yarbrough's remarks. TAC/ABET accreditation, he said, reaffirmed "what we knew all along... (that) our engineering technology programs are among the best in the nation."

According to Dr. Howard Heiden, assistant dean of the College of Science and Technology at USM TAC/ABET approval means a number of things to USM's students.

USM/Gulf Coast engineering technology students are studying and graduating from an academic area that meets some 70 years of historical standards set by the TAC/ABET organization, he said, and on completion of the USM courses, Coast graduates should stand a better chance of quality employment and on-the-job advancement compared to graduates from similar, non-accredited programs.

Heiden also pointed out that minorities and women will have a better chance of landing federal scholarship grants if their chosen field of study includes an accredited program.

"Graduates from approved programs also can expect a better transferability to other undergraduate or graduate engineering technology programs," he concluded.

Drug/hypertensive problems addressed in seminar

The University of Mississippi and the Mississippi Pharmacists Association have scheduled a seminar that examines drug-related problems in hypertensives.

The District IX seminar for practicing pharmacists will be held at the Western Sizzlin' in Gulfport on Feb. 9. District IX includes Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Stone and southern Pearl River counties. Registration is at 6 p.m. and dinner at 6:30 p.m.

"Detecting and Managing Drug-Related Problems in Hypertensive Patients" is the title of the seminar. Dr. Richard Fischer, assistant professor of clinical pharmacy in the Ole Miss School of Pharmacy, will lecture.

Pharmacists will be able to discuss current antihypertensive drugs in order to counsel patients with the latest information on managing high blood pressure.

The pre-registration fee is $10 for MPhA members and $20 for nonmembers. On-site registration is $15 for MPhA members and $25 for nonmembers. The registration fee will be returned if requested 48 hours before the scheduled date.

Two hours of continuing education credit will be awarded to seminar participants.

For information on registration, contact the Bureau of Pharmaceutical Services, School of Pharmacy, The University of Mississippi, University MS, 38677; or call, (601) 232-7080.

ACT, GRE, GMAT reviews slated

The Division of Lifelong Learning at the University of Southern Mississippi is offering several test review workshops this spring.

Reviews for the American College Test (ACT), the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) and the Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT) will each be offered three times during the spring.

The ACT preparation is designed to review selected academic materials that appear on the ACT. Math will be the focus of special emphasis. One-day workshops at USM's Hattiesburg campus are scheduled for Feb. 4, April 8 and June 3.

The ACT review is also offered to individual schools and school districts to eliminate the student's need to travel to the USM campus. The site and date are determined by the participating school district.

The GRE and GMAT preparation workshops supplement undergraduate work during two-day workshops. The GRE review will be offered Jan. 27-28, March 31-April 1 and May 19-20. The GMAT review will be offered Jan. 20-21, March 10-11 and June 9-10.

For information about any of these workshops, contact the USM Division of Lifelong Learning at 1-266-4196.

LSAT REVIEW

Individuals planning to attend law school may benefit from a Law School Admissions Test review to be offered by the University of Southern Mississippi.

The review will be held on two consecutive Saturdays and Sundays beginning Feb. 11.

For more information call the University of Southern Mississippi's Division of Lifelong Learning at 1-266-4201.

BY D.C. HARVILL
The Bay St. Louis/Waveland School Board ended weeks of speculation Thursday night when it voted to renew the contract of Superintendent Roger Oge.
With a standing-room-only crowd present in the board room at Bay Senior High School, the vote on the renewal went four to one, with member Linda Penrose voting in opposition. Charles Benvenuti, an appointed member representing Bay St. Louis, made the motion to renew the contract and it was seconded by Bay St. Louis member Willie Bradley.

Sheriff's former

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is still searching for photos of some of the county's former sheriffs.
Several have already been obtained and copied and are being displayed in the reception section of the sheriff's office.
The names of the former sheriffs have been researched back to 1866 by Charles Gottschalk, a former county election commissioner.
